

Department of Large Animal Clinic Sciences
Western College of Veterinary Medicine,

RESEARCH EVALUATING ANIMAL WELFARE &
SUSTAINABILITY OF PIG FARMING

Seeking pig producers and swine veterinarians in Canada and the USA who are responsible for animal care and/or business decisions.

We'd like to hear your experience managing pigs to optimize production combined with approaches to improving their welfare.

Participation involves a 1.5-hour interview to discuss your perspectives on managing animal welfare, and the interaction with productivity and sustainability targets.

Your participation is voluntary, your identity will remain confidential.

For more information or to volunteer, please contact: Kayla Arisman
Western College of Veterinary Medicine
Email: kayla.arisman@usask.ca

Research lead: Dr. Yolande Seddon, Associate Professor Swine Behaviour & Welfare, NSERC IRC in Swine Welfare

This study has been approved by the University of Saskatchewan Behavioural Research Ethics Board

UNIVERSITY OF SASKATCHEWAN

usask.ca